NEWS RELEASE

March 20th, 2019

CUV Ventures Corp. RevoluPAY® Receives Direct Call from Central Bank Regarding PSD2 License, American Express added to RevoluPAY® System

Vancouver, BC – CUV Ventures Corp. (TSX-V: CUV) (the “Company”) is pleased to inform shareholders that Alfredo Manresa, CEO of the wholly owned subsidiary RevoluPAY® S.L., has received a direct call, on March 19th at 5.50pm CET, from the Head of License Authorizations of the Central Bank, concerning the impending PSD2 banking license approval. During the call, the senior department of authorizations official explained to Mr. Manresa that the bank had preferred to call directly to explain that the slight approval delay is associated with the sheer volume of departmental work underway, however, that between Thursday 28th and Friday 29th of March 2019, the central bank will issue a written communication to RevoluPAY® concerning the PSD2 license petition. Management remains extremely confident with regard to the eventual granting of a proprietary PSD2 Central Bank license to RevoluPAY®. Further, RevoluPAY® signed a contract, dated 15th March 2019, confirming, with immediate effect, the incorporation of American Express into the RevoluPAY® platform. Previously RevoluPAY® accepted Visa, Mastercard, Swift, ACH and SEPA payments into the company’s proprietary e-Wallet app, however, as of the aforementioned date, the company is pleased to also welcome American Express cardholders.

About the PSD2 Central Bank License

The company considers the eventual granting of PSD2 license as an entry into the future of modern banking. Known colloquially as the “Open Banking Directive”, PSD2 license holders are licensed to compete directly with conventional banks in today’s digital banking era. Increasing numbers of worldwide consumers are switching exclusively to digital banking, through phone apps or, web-based platforms. The list of illustrious tech giants who have obtained a PSD2 license over the past 18 months includes: Google Inc., Facebook, Alipay, Stripe, etc. The company believes that such a license will bring with it expanded horizons for CUV Ventures and, a potentially lucrative access to the electronic banking world via its proprietary RevoluPAY® app. While RevoluPAY® continues to operate via an indefinite third-party PSD2 license, the advent of the granting of a proprietary PSD2 license should, ostensibly, bring with it: increased corporate autonomy, cost savings and, the worldwide notoriety management believes RevoluPAY® will achieve.

RevoluPAY® App Update

The company's proprietary RevoluPAY® Apple and Android app has been updated to include the Spanish language. A further update will be issued shortly with the inclusion of American Express.

Booking Holdings and Expedia VCC Update

The company is pleased to announce that the clearance of VCC payments continues to increase exponentially and, that the average gross profit for the company, calculated as of today, is currently situated at approximately 4.5%.
